

Ephesus is teeming with cats. I happen to love cats and this is my best cat shot from Ephesus.

The reason I chose this photo today is that I just caught Cat Scratch Disease, an infection following the scratch of a cat, not from Ephesus, but from the ancient city of Olympos in Lycia. I never knew such a disease existed, although I have had many cats. For someone who is never ill and so fond of cats, I find it amusing that I caught this disease!

Time to worship Bastet... miaow!
